

Volunteer Reporter

Role Description

"A thankful heart enjoys blessings twice—when they're received and when they're shared."
It's our desire to highlight the wonderful activities that are taking place in our local churches and share these with our members across the Conference.

As such, the North England Conference (NEC) Media and Communications department is seeking to bring on board up to five Volunteer Reporters who will commit to delivering quality coverage of local and Conference-wide events and ministries. This initiative is part of our vision for Total Member Involvement and increasing the NEC's digital media presence.

Articles will be published on the NEC website, social media, and in the Conference's monthly newsletter.

Responsibilities

- Write news stories with the audience's perspective in mind. The average word count for each is 500-800 words.
- When a photographer isn't present at an event, take several photos on a mobile capturing the key aspects of the event.
- Aim to have an article ready for publication within a week of the event finishing.
- Attend, on average, 1 event per month. There will be flexibility to work around your schedule and other commitments.

Duration

Since we aim to invest in individuals through training, opportunities for growth, and the use of spiritual gifts, we ask that individuals commit to the role for at least six months.

Requirements

- Ability to gather information and coherently write news articles
- Able to use word processors, such as Microsoft Word
- Excellent communication skills
- Ability to travel across the North England Conference (driving preferable)
- Commitment to upholding the Adventist Church's values and beliefs
- Aged 18 and above

Desirable

- Professional reporting/journalism experience
- Own or have access to a mobile device or laptop

Benefits

- All travel costs will be reimbursed and meal allowance provided.
- Training and support provided by experienced writers.
- Exposure and experience of working within a Communications Department.
